OVERVIEW:

Good news if you're flying out of lax this Labor Day weekend. Recent studies have shown that 81% of the flights arrive and depart on time in L A X, which is one of six airports that received a score above 80%. Chicago O'Hare was reported one of the worst airports with only 65% of the flights arriving on time.

NATIONAL NEWS:

Forget about closing your laptop during a flight. American airlines have launched air cell's in-flight mobile broadband service, go-go. Now, passengers traveling on American can pay a nominal fee for web access on select flights from New York to Los Angeles.

LOCAL NEWS:

Every week here on Southern California Life, we showcase a different city in the southland. This week, we are shining the spotlight on upland, California. Tonight, David Wyllie takes us to a special spa that is bringing state of the art treatments to the inland empire, allure images in upland:

HEALTH/BEAUTY:

From the moment you arrive at Allure Image Enhancement Medical Spa you are surrounded by elegance. Upon entering you're struck by the marble floors and walls and classic artwork...with European and Asian style designs combining to create a peaceful and relaxing atmosphere

Allure opened in 1996 and quickly began adding a wide variety of services and procedures. Allure features a staff of medical professionals... Mina is a registered nurse with a masters as a family nursing practitioner from UCLA and her husband dr. John Grasso serves as medical director while other doctors provide consultations for more extensive plastic surgery procedures. But the quicker topical treatments remain the most popular. And a new procedure similar to liposuction but less invasive has been added to the allure image menu.

And with all treatments--Allure offers plans for patients to take home with them whether it's a diet regimen to keep the weight off after receiving lip-o-sculpt or make up and skin care products for those who've had laser or Botox treatments. They even have a salon on the premises where patients can be pampered by getting their hair and nails done. It truly is a modern one stop beauty shop.

NATIONAL NEWS:

While some students spent their vacations lounging by the pool, a group of interns spent their time creating cars. The students were asked to design a hydrogen-powered car for the year 2020. While these cars are not expected to make it to production, gm reports these students showed real potential and will probably be designing future vehicles.

Imagine having the chance to design the car of the future for a major U-S automaker--- while you're still in college. That's the concept behind the General Motors Annual Design Internship program. Twenty-one interns were chosen from some of the most prestigious design schools— from those as close as Detroit to as far away as China. They were then given 14 weeks to design and engineer a hydrogen-powered Chevrolet for the year 2020.

Brian Nesbitt, VP, General Motors Design, North America:

“It's a great experience for them – it should be – makes them more marketable in the end. And it's also a good tool for us to recruit; we can assess and look at who has the most potential in the future.”

Aside from being gas-free, the concept cars had to meet the needs of drivers in the emerging markets of China, India, and Russia.

Each team of interns had a designer, an engineer, a sculptor, and a trim and color artist. GM then provided mentors and the tools to get the job done. Together, they came up with six, futuristic concept cars.

SPORTS:

Three members of the I-a sparks women's basketball team have returned from the Olympics. Lisa Leslie Delisha Milton Jones and Candace parker will suit up and play for the area's biggest Professional sports franchise for women. The trio beat Australia last week at Beijing.

NASCAR right around the corner... We take you inside the race car at the Richard petty driving experience in Fontana...

ENTERTAINMENT:

With the reality craze on TV we see a growing number of documentaries hitting the big screen doing almost the same as those shows do on the small screen. American teen gives us a unique look to the lives of teenagers in the Midwest; it follows the lives of five teenagers--a jock, the heartthrob, he popular girl, the artsy girl and the geek--in one small town in Indiana through their senior year of high school. Ron Jacobson got to talk to the five as they are visiting Hollywood.

SPORTS:

Our crew here at southern California life spent an exciting day at the California speedway to experience the Richard petty driving school.
